Provided that the wife of a seaman, if she deserts her children, or so misconducts herself as to be undeserving of support from her husband, shall forfeit all right to further payments under any allotment made in her favor.

(2) In any proceeding for such recovery, it shall be sufficient for the claimant to prove that he is the person mentioned in the note, and that the note was given by the owner or by the master or some other authorized agent; and the seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court-

(a) by the official statement of the change in the crew caused by his absence, made and signed by the master, as by this Law is required; or

(b) by a certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has left the ship; or

(c) by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect; or

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to a stipulation made by the seaman belonging to any Cyprus ship which, according to the terms of the agreement, is to be employed on salvage service with respect to the remuneration to be paid to them for salvage services to be rendered by that ship to any other ship.

Wages not on freight.

36. — (1) The right of a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship to wages shall not depend on the earning of freight.

(2) Every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship in which he has served had earned freight shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to demand and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned.

(3) In all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that the seaman has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, shall bar his claim to wages.

(4) Where a seaman or apprentice who would, but for his death, be entitled by virtue of this section to demand and recover any wages, dies before the wages are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner provided by this Part with respect to the wages of a seaman who dies during a voyage.

(2) A seaman shall not be entitled to receive wages under this section if the owner show that the unemployment was not due to the wreck, loss or sale by auction of the ship, and shall not be entitled to receive wages under this section in respect of any day if the owner shows that the seaman was able to obtain suitable employment on that day.

(3) In this section, “seaman” includes every person employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship, but, in the case of a ship which does not exceed fifty tons burden, does not include any person who is entitled to be remunerated only by a share in the profits or the gross earnings of the operation of the vessel.

Wages on termination of service by illness.

38. — (1) Where the service of a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship terminates before the date contemplated in his agreement by reason of his being left on shore at any place not in Cyprus under a certificate granted in the manner provided in the Code, of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, he shall be entitled to wages up to the time of such termination, but not for any longer period.

(2) The master of a Cyprus ship shall not leave a seaman behind at any place outside the Republic ashore or at sea (except where the seaman is discharged under the provisions of this Law) unless he previously obtains endorsed on the agreement with the crew the certificate of the customs or port authorities of the place stating the cause of the seaman being left behind whether the cause be illness or inability to proceed to sea, desertion or otherwise.

Forfeiture of wages etc., of seaman when illness caused by his own default.

39. Where a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship is, by reason of illness, incapable of performing his duty, and it is proved that the illness has been caused by his own willful act or default, he shall not be entitled to wages for the time during which he is by reason of the illness incapable of performing his duty.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

40. A seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship shall not be entitled to wages for any time during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work, when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his commencement of such work, nor unless the Court hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Costs of procuring punishment may be deducted from wages.

41. Whenever in any proceeding relating to a seaman's wages, it is shown that a seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship, has in the course of the voyage, been convicted of an offence by a competent tribunal and rightfully punished for that offence by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct any part of the wages due to the seaman, not exceeding one month's wages, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring the conviction and punishment.

Compensation to seaman improperly discharged.

42. If a seaman, having signed an agreement to serve in a Cyprus ship, is discharged otherwise than in accordance with the terms of this Law before the commencement of the voyage, or before one month's wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying that discharge, and without his consent, he shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages which he has earned, due compensation for the damage caused to him by the discharge, not exceeding if the discharge takes place in the Republic one month's wages, and if the discharge takes place elsewhere, two months' wages, and may recover that compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

hundred pounds become payable, sue for the same in a summary manner to be provided by Rules of Court, before any competent Court in the Republic, and the order of the Court in the manner shall be final.

(2) Nothing in this Part shall be construed as limiting the jurisdiction of a Court to refuse to entertain an action for wages by the master or a member of the crew of a ship if the ship is not a Cyprus ship.

(3) The master of a ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of his wages as a seaman has under this Law.

(4) The master of a ship, and every person lawfully acting as master of a ship by reason of the decease or incapacity from illness of the master of the ship, shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of disbursements or liabilities properly made or incurred by him on account of the ship as a master has for the recovery of his wages.

Powers of Court in case of unreasonable delay in paying master's wages.

45. In any action or other legal proceeding by the master of a ship for the recovery of any sum due to him on account of wages, the Court may, if it appears to it that the payment of the sum due has been delayed otherwise than owing to the act or default of the master, or to any reasonable dispute as to liability, or to any other cause not being the wrongful act or default of the person liable to make the payment, order that person to pay, in addition to any sum due on account of wages, such sum as it thinks just as damages in respect of the delay, without prejudice to any claim which may be made by the master on that account.
